

Dolphin Dive

On Monday the 5th of December 2016 Rohan Danaher, Matthew Leary, Alicia Whitfield and me (Xander Kugler) were invited to a dolphin dive for all new i sea i care Ambassador. So we jumped into Mrs Surace car and drove of to Sorrento Pier. We meet Mandy and all the other i sea i care Ambassadors. We got our wetsuits on and jumped on the boat.

As the boat was zooming from the pier to our first destination - the seals, I felt really nervous to be swimming next to seals. As the boat driver was driving to the seals, all the other kids were listening to the instructors on how to use snorkels. I had used snorkels before and was excited to get started. As we arrived, everyone got their flippers and snorkels on and then we jumped into the water. It was pretty cold when we got in and we snorkeled around the seals little home. The coolest part to me was when they swam underneath us.

Next, we went to see the weedy sea dragons. Whilst we were going there, everyone was looking off the sides of the boat for the dolphins. When we arrived, everyone got their snorkels on again and jumped back into the water. We looked for the weedy sea dragons. Mostly everyone saw just seaweed, fish and shells. Then some people started seeing the sea dragons. They were so small and the looked like seaweed. Soon everyone started gathering around two sea dragons to get a better and closer look

After that, we started heading back to the boat and onboard, everyone got hot chocolate and a biscuit. Sadly we didn't any dolphins that day and I was really disappointed but it was still a really fun day.
